

Drs. Passero & Feeney

Proud Directors

Nova Institute for Advanced Dental Education Study Club

Drs. Passero & Feeney have been directors of the Nova Institute for Advanced Dental Education Study Club for 10 years, an affiliate of Seattle Study Club, and in 2010 received the prestige's award of "Excellence in Study Club Management". What does that mean to you, the patient? It means that your dental professional has made a commitment to lifelong learning to provide you with the best care and newest techniques currently available in dentistry.

As directors of the Nova Institute for Advanced Dental Education Study Club, Drs. Passero & Feeney spend time outside the office managing monthly meetings and attend the national Seattle Study Club Symposium each year to keep abreast of the latest developments and treatment options available to patients.

The Seattle Study Club is often referred to as a university without walls. It is recognized as one of the most advanced continuing education groups for dental professionals in the nation. Members participate in hands-on demonstrations, problem-solving workshops, panel discussions and clinical treatment planning sessions, and invites internationally known speakers to share information at our local meetings. Seattle Study Club is an international network of over 250 affiliated clubs with a combined membership of 6,700 dentists. For more information, please visit www.seattlestudyclub.com.

Because your dentist is a member of this prominent group, you can rest assured that you're in good hands.
